Prisms of Globalization

Co-evolution of Knowledge Networks and 21st Century Organizational Forms

Tuesday, April 5, 2005 3:30-5:00pm
101 International Studies Building

Speakers:
Noshir Contractor, Speech Communication, UIUC

Biography:
Noshir S. Contractor is a Professor of speech communication and psychology at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign where he teaches courses and doctoral seminars on organizational communication processes, communication network analysis, dynamic systems analysis, collaboration technologies, and quantitative research methods. His research interests include applications of systems theory to communication, the role of emergent communication and knowledge networks in organizations, and collaboration technologies in the workplace.

Co-Sponsors:
The Center for Global Studies

Related Links
Noshir Contractor’s University Homepage